BUFFALO, N.Y. (WIVB) - Some Queen City groups joined forces to give a lift to what they call the City's poorest neighborhood.

Thirty organizations along with the Buffalo Dream Center and Belle Center collaborated for Buffalo Gives Back Saturday.

Volunteers cleaned up the streets surrounding the Belle Center.

The day also included children's games, a resource fair and urban farming demonstrations.

Pastor Eric Johns said, "This is the poorest neighborhood in all of Buffalo, so all we want to do is come together today and just do something to help the people in this community."

The Buffalo Dream Center also prepared hundreds of grocery bags to go to families in need.
